Organic Fostering: "From Box Room to Bedroom"

Static post · Instagram and Facebook feed · 1080 × 1350 (4:5)

CONCEPT

The idea

A before-and-after room makeover, one of the most saved formats on Pinterest. On the left is the spare room everyone has: boxes, an ironing pile and an exercise bike nobody uses. On the right is the same room turned into a warm, cosy child's bedroom.

The spare bedroom is the first thing on the website's list of what you need to foster. This post makes it personal: most people already have the room, they just haven't thought of it this way.

Why it works

- Instantly relatable: everyone recognises their own junk room, which stops the scroll and gets a smile.
- Lead generation: it speaks to people with a spare room who have never considered fostering, and ends with one easy action.
- Engagement: the caption asks "What's in your spare room right now?", an easy, fun question to answer in the comments.

Why it's new

Earlier posts covered cultural matching and the types of fostering. This is the first to focus on the one thing people already have: the spare room.

Visual direction

- A split image with a diagonal line through the middle. Use a real photo or a photoreal AI image of the same room from the same angle.
- Before: cool, flat light; cardboard boxes, a clothes horse, an exercise bike, a bare mattress.
- After: warm golden light; a made bed with a peach duvet, fairy lights, a small bookshelf, a soft rug and a magenta cushion.
- Small rounded tabs reading "BEFORE" and "AFTER". The headline sits in a cream band at the top, in Poppins Bold.
- No child in the image: the room tells the story.

POST CONTENT

On-image text

Headline: That spare room full of boxes? It could be a child's safe place.

Before tab: BEFORE · Where the exercise bike lives

After tab: AFTER · A safe place to belong

Footer: Got a spare bedroom? Let's talk fostering. · 0161 241 1332 · organicfostering.co.uk

Caption

Every home has one. The ironing pile, the boxes from the last move, the exercise bike you promised you'd use. 📦

What if that room became someone's safe place?

A spare bedroom is one of the first things you need to foster. You can be single or in a relationship, and you can rent or own. No previous experience is needed; we give you full training and ongoing support.

Start with an informal chat: 📞 0161 241 1332 · organicfostering.co.uk

Be honest: what's in your spare room right now? 👇

Hashtags

#Fostering #FosterCarer #BecomeAFosterCarer #SpareRoom #ManchesterFostering #NorthWestFostering #OrganicFostering

Alt text

A split image of the same spare room. On the left, labelled "Before", it is cluttered with boxes and an exercise bike. On the right, labelled "After", it is a warm, cosy child's bedroom. The headline reads "That spare room full of boxes? It could be a child's safe place."

COPY CHECK

- The spare bedroom, single or in a relationship, renting or owning, no previous experience needed, full training, ongoing support and "a place to belong" all come from Organic Fostering's own website and materials.
- If the image is AI-generated, turn on Instagram's "AI info" label.