Organic Fostering: "Which Foster Carer Are You?"

Static post · Instagram and Facebook feed · 1080 × 1350 (4:5)

CONCEPT

The idea

A "which one are you?" personality chart, one of the most saved and shared formats on Pinterest. Six tiles each describe a trait people recognise in themselves, and each trait leads to one type of fostering that Organic Fostering offers.

It changes the question from "Could I foster?" to "What kind of foster carer would I be?" People tag friends and comment with their type, which helps the post reach more people.

Why it's new

Our earlier posts covered cultural matching, eligibility, the application steps and the allowance. This one introduces the different types of fostering, which we haven't featured yet.

Visual direction

- A 2 × 3 grid of rounded tiles in peach, soft lavender, magenta and orange, on a cream background.
- Each tile has a simple line icon, the trait in bold, and the fostering type in a small pill label.
- Poppins throughout. The title sits at the top and the call to action runs along the bottom.
- No photos of children: icons and type only.
