Can I Foster If...?

SaaS motion-graphics animation with voiceover and word-synced captions · 9:16 vertical, 1080×1920 · about 45 seconds · Instagram, Facebook and TikTok (organic and paid) · built in After Effects

CONCEPT

The idea

Most people who are curious about fostering have a "but". They think Can I foster if... and never finish the sentence out loud. This video finishes it for them.

A clean help-centre search bar, ringed with the magenta-to-orange brand glow, types "Can I foster if..." in time with the voice. An autocomplete list drops down with five real questions from Organic Fostering's FAQ page: pets, being retired, already having children, working, and a health condition. The cursor clicks each one, the row opens into an answer card, and the answer is the site's own, word for word: Yes, Usually, Possibly or Not automatically.

The honest answers are the point. "Possibly. It depends..." builds more trust than a list of yeses. At the end the search bar clears for the viewer's own question, and the bar itself turns into the call to action: Send your question.

HOOK · FIRST 4 SECONDS
"Thinking about fostering? You've probably wondered: can I foster if..."

END LINE
"Send your question to a real person in our Manchester team."

Who it's for

Adults across Manchester and the North West who have thought about fostering but quietly ruled themselves out. They might be retired, have pets or children of their own, work, or live with a health condition, and they haven't asked anyone yet.

Why it works

- It answers the doubt, not the brochure. Each question is a real reason people hesitate, and each answer is copied from organicfostering.co.uk/faqs, so nothing is promised that the site doesn't say.
- Honesty is the hook. The "Possibly" and "Not automatically" cards are what make the "Yes" cards believable.
- Everything follows the voice. The bar types as the narrator speaks, each card opens on the word that names it, and the captions match the voiceover.
- The call to action is a question, not a form. "Send your question" is the website's own button, and it's a much smaller ask than "apply". It works as a Meta lead form whose first field is the viewer's question.

Why it's new

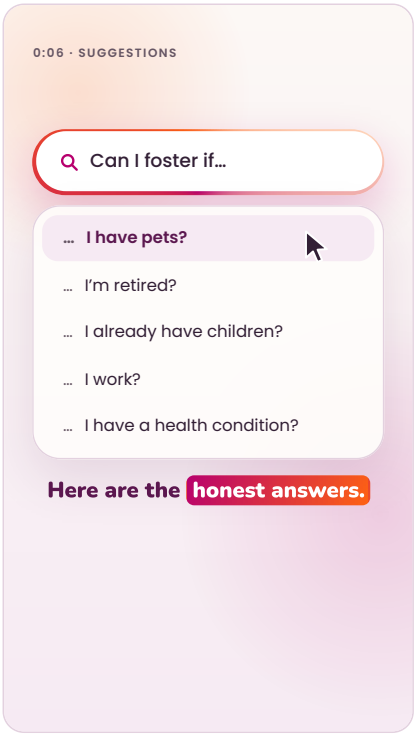

Earlier pieces covered the requirements (the "Could You?" checklist: spare room, time, renting or owning, single or a couple), the allowance, the area checker, transfers, the year-in-review and the CV scanner. This is the first piece about the doubts that sit outside the requirements, and the first to use a help-centre search with autocomplete and cards that open out of the list. "Check My Area" also starts with an input box, but there it leads to a map; here it leads to answers.

STORYBOARD: SIX KEY FRAMES

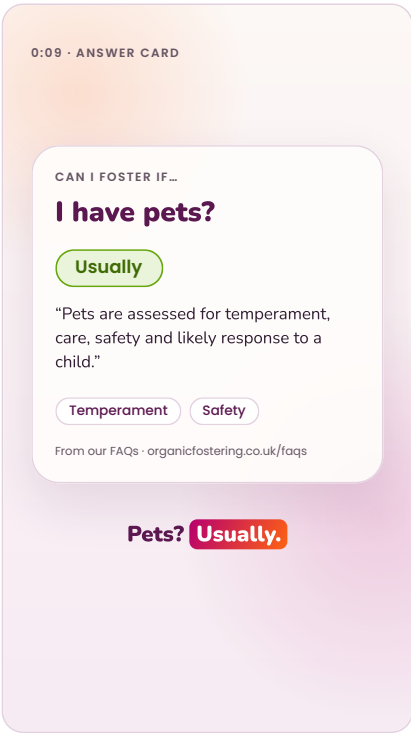

Layout sketches in Organic Fostering's colours and fonts; the final art is built in After Effects. Text stays inside Instagram's safe area, clear of the bottom captions and the buttons on the right.

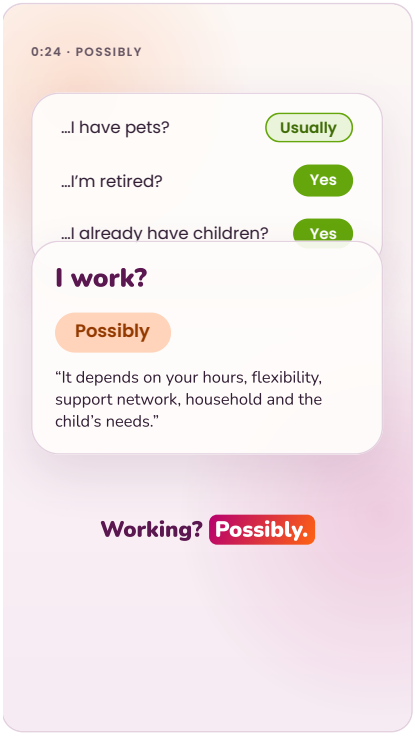

1 · Hook · 0:03
The glowing search bar types "Can I foster if" in time with the narrator.

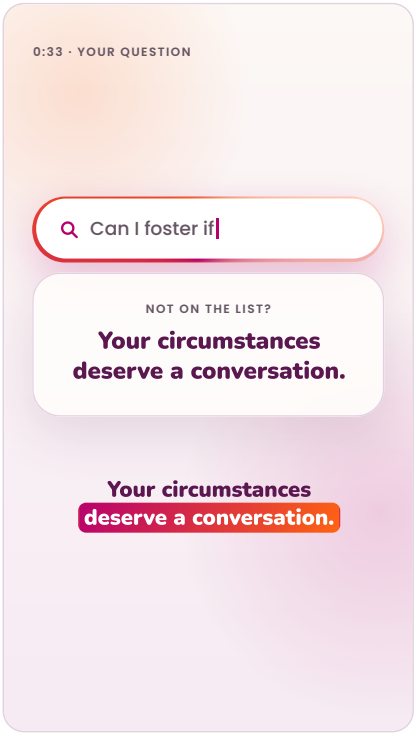

2 · Suggestions · 0:06
On "honest answers" five real FAQ questions stagger into the list. The highlight slides to the first.

3 · Answer card · 0:09
The clicked row grows into a card (a shared-element move). The pill lands on "Usually", then the two chips.

4 · The honest one · 0:24
Answered cards fold into a list with their pills. "Possibly" gets the same care as "Yes".

5 · Your question · 0:33
The list clears and the bar waits for the viewer's own question. The empty state uses the homepage line.

6 · End card · 0:42
The search bar morphs into the button. The cursor clicks it, then the phone, the web address and the Ofsted line appear.

SCRIPT AND SYNC SHEET

89 spoken words, about 36 seconds of speech at a calm 150 words a minute, inside a 45-second edit. The captions are the voiceover, word for word. Purple words are cues: the element on the right enters on that word. Every answer on screen is quoted from organicfostering.co.uk/faqs.

BEAT	VOICEOVER = CAPTIONS	ON SCREEN
1 · Hook 0:00–0:04.5	"Thinking about fostering? You've probably wondered: can I foster if…"	• Thinking about fostering? → an ivory-to-lavender canvas with slow magenta and orange glows; "How can we help?" fades up and the search bar springs in, its gradient ring turning. • can I foster if… → the words type into the bar in time with the voice, ending on a blinking caret.
2 · Suggestions 0:04.5–0:07	"Here are the honest answers."	• honest answers → five autocomplete rows stagger down: …I have pets? · …I'm retired? · …I already have children? · …I work? · …I have a health condition? A highlight slides to the first row.
3 · Pets 0:07–0:11.5	"Pets? Usually. They're assessed for temperament and safety."	• Pets? → click and ripple; the row grows into an answer card while the others dim. • Usually → a green-outline pill. The FAQ line types in beneath: "Pets are assessed for temperament, care, safety and likely response to a child." • temperament, safety → two small chips pop in, one on each word.
4 · Retired 0:11.5–0:16	"Retired? Yes. There's no fixed upper age limit."	• Retired? → the pets card folds back into the list with its pill; the next row opens. • Yes → a solid leaf-green pill. • no fixed upper age limit → a thin age track draws left to right and runs off the edge of the card with no end marker.
5 · Children 0:16–0:21.5	"Already have children? Yes. Their views are part of the assessment."	• Already have children? → the third row opens. Yes → green pill. • Their views → a small speech-bubble chip, then the FAQ line: "Your children's views, ages, needs and the possible effect of fostering on family life form part of assessment."
6 · Working 0:21.5–0:26.5	"Working? Possibly. It depends on your hours, flexibility and support."	• Working? → the fourth row opens. Possibly → a peach pill, landing with the same spring as "Yes". • hours, flexibility, support → three chips pop in, one per word, above the FAQ line: "It depends on your hours, flexibility, support network, household and the child's needs."
7 · Health 0:26.5–0:31	"A health condition? It doesn't automatically rule you out."	• A health condition? → the last row opens. • doesn't automatically rule you out → a lavender pill reads "Not automatically", with the FAQ line: "A disability, medical condition or mental-health history does not automatically prevent fostering."
8 · Your question 0:31–0:36	"Your question's not on the list? Your circumstances deserve a conversation."	• not on the list → the answered rows slide away and the bar clears to "Can I foster if|", caret waiting. • deserve a conversation → an empty-state card: "Not on the list? Your circumstances deserve a conversation." (the homepage line).
9 · Call to action 0:36–0:42	"Send your question to a real person in our Manchester team. No pressure, no obligation."	• Send your question → the search bar morphs into the gradient button "Send your question →" and the cursor clicks it. • a real person, Manchester team → two chips settle under the button: "A real person replies" and "Manchester team". • No pressure, no obligation. → a small line beneath.
10 · End card 0:42–0:45	"Organic Fostering."	• Organic Fostering → the logo builds above the button, with 0161 241 1332, organicfostering.co.uk and a small star badge: "Rated Good by Ofsted · Inspected May 2025". Hold for 1.5 s.

Cut-downs: each answer works as its own 8-second ad (hook, one card, end card), so you can test which question pulls the most enquiries.

- Look: a light help-centre scene, ivory to lavender, with slow magenta and orange glows. White glass cards with the site's 22 px corners, its 1 px line colour and its soft plum shadow. No people, no photos and no search-engine branding.
- Type: Nunito, the website's font, for the questions, answers and captions; Poppins for small UI labels.
- Answer pills: Yes (leaf green), Usually (green outline), Possibly (peach), Not automatically (lavender). There's never a red or a cross.
- Motion: the gradient ring turns slowly; typing is synced to the narrator's syllables; rows stagger in on soft springs; a highlight slides between rows; each clicked row grows into its card (a container transform) and folds back with its pill; the bar morphs into the button. A light 3D tilt, slow push-ins and motion blur add depth.
- Sound: a warm British narrator (the same voice as the earlier voiceover versions keeps the account consistent), soft key ticks, a pop per row, a click and ripple, a gentle whoosh on each card. Add a light, warm music bed ducked under the voice, or keep it SFX-only as with the reels. Master at −14 LUFS.
