Hulk Marketing: AI Video Concept

"The Night Shift" · 30 seconds · AI-generated (Kling AI or Seedance) · 9:16 · Miniature workers style

What We Saw on Pinterest

- "Mini workers" AI videos are a fast-growing trend: tiny construction workers in hard hats building, repairing or cooking on everyday objects, filmed in close-up macro with a shallow depth of field.
- Pins show tiny crews on food, inside phones and on circuit boards, using cranes, ladders, wheelbarrows and scaffolding. They're satisfying to watch and get shared widely.
- Food and product brands use it; marketing agencies hardly do. Using it to show the work behind marketing is a fresh angle.

The Idea

It's late at night and a business owner has gone home, leaving the laptop and phone on the desk. Then a tiny Hulk crew in green hard hats arrives and works the night shift. They build the website brick by brick on the laptop screen, use a crane to lift five gold stars onto the phone, hoist the business's name to the top of a search list, paint a mini billboard and feed a pile of paperwork into a tiny automation machine. In the morning, the owner comes in with a coffee and the phone starts buzzing with new enquiries. One tiny worker tips his hat and slips away behind the mug.

Each job is one of Hulk's real services:

- Building the website on the laptop: Website Design and Development
- Craning stars onto the phone: Reputation Management
- Hoisting the name to the top of a search list: SEO
- Painting a mini billboard: Social Media and Paid Ads
- The paperwork machine: AI Automation

The Hook (first 2 seconds)

On-screen text: While you were sleeping, a tiny team was building your marketing.

Alternative hooks to test:

- "Ever wondered who's behind great marketing?"
- "Small team. Massive results." (the crew looks tiny; the impact looks big)

Who It's For

- Busy UK small business owners who don't have time to do their own marketing.
- The message: hand it to Hulk and the work gets done while you run your business.

Look

- Macro, tilt-shift miniature look: very shallow depth of field, warm desk-lamp light at night, cool morning daylight at the end.
- The tiny workers wear green (#9DEF69) hard hats with a small "H" and dark green work overalls, so they're instantly the Hulk crew.
- Realistic textures on everyday objects (laptop keys, phone glass, coffee mug, notepad).
- All screens (website, reviews, search list, notifications) are mock-ups added in editing, so the text stays sharp and no real platform logos appear.

Shot by Shot

Shot 1 · 0:00–0:03 · Hook

Visual: A dark office desk at night, lit by a desk lamp. A laptop, a phone and a coffee mug. A line of tiny workers in green hard hats marches out from behind a stack of books, carrying tools and ladders.

On-screen text: While you were sleeping, a tiny team was building your marketing.

Sound: A ticking clock, tiny footsteps, a little whistle.

Shot 2 · 0:03–0:07 · The website

Visual: On the laptop screen, tiny workers lay glowing blocks like bricks, building a clean website page section by section. One worker with a paint roller adds the final green "Book now" button.

On-screen text: Building your website.

Sound: Tiny hammering, a satisfying click as the button lands.

Shot 3 · 0:07–0:11 · The reviews

Visual: A tiny crane on the desk lifts five gold stars one by one and lowers them onto the phone screen, where workers bolt them into place.

On-screen text: Earning your reviews.

Sound: Crane winch, five metallic "clinks".

Shot 4 · 0:11–0:15 · Search

Visual: On a printed list propped up on the desk, a team of tiny workers pulls a block with the business's name up a ladder and slots it into the number-one position at the top.

On-screen text: Getting you found.

Sound: Rope creak, "heave, heave", a final thunk.

Shot 5 · 0:15–0:18 · The ads

Visual: Tiny workers on scaffolding paint a mini billboard standing on the desk, finishing the business's advert with a green brush stroke.

On-screen text: Putting you in front of the right people.

Sound: Brush strokes, a little cheer.

Shot 6 · 0:18–0:21 · AI automation

Visual: A tiny worker shovels a messy pile of sticky notes and papers into a small green machine. Out the other side come neat, sorted folders on a conveyor belt.

On-screen text: Automating the busywork.

Sound: Machine whirr, a soft "ding" for each folder.

Shot 7 · 0:21–0:25 · Morning

Visual: Morning daylight through the window. The owner (a woman in her 30s) walks in with a coffee. Her phone lights up and buzzes with notifications. She smiles, surprised. Behind her mug, one tiny worker tips his green hard hat and slips away.

On-screen text: Good morning. You've got new enquiries.

Sound: Birds, door opening, three phone buzzes.

Shot 8 · 0:25–0:30 · End card (call to action)

Visual: Forest green (#111A16) end card with the HULK MARKETING logo. A tiny worker walks in from the side and sets down a little sign with the CTA.

On-screen text: Let our team do the heavy lifting. · Get your free audit ↗ · hulkmarketing.co.uk

Sound: Little footsteps, a final music hit.

Voice-over (optional)

Warm, slightly playful British voice:

"While you were sleeping… our team got to work.
Building your website. Earning your reviews. Getting you found.
Putting you in front of the right people. And automating the busywork.
Good morning. You've got new enquiries.

AI Prompts (Kling AI or Seedance)

Generate a reference image of the tiny worker (green hard hat with an "H", dark green overalls) and of the desk first, then create each shot as a 5-second image-to-video clip.

1. Macro tilt-shift shot of a dark office desk at night lit by a desk lamp, laptop, phone and coffee mug, a line of tiny miniature construction workers in green hard hats and dark green overalls marching out from behind a stack of books carrying ladders and tools, shallow depth of field, realistic, 9:16.
2. Macro shot of tiny miniature construction workers in green hard hats laying glowing rectangular blocks like bricks on a laptop screen, building a web page, one worker with a paint roller, warm lamp light, shallow depth of field, realistic.

3. Macro shot of a tiny construction crane on a desk lifting a golden star and lowering it onto a smartphone screen, tiny workers in green hard hats guiding it into place, warm lamp light, realistic miniature.
4. Macro shot of tiny workers in green hard hats pulling a block up a ladder with a rope to the top of a paper list propped up on a desk, teamwork, warm lamp light, realistic miniature.
5. Macro shot of tiny workers in green hard hats on scaffolding painting a small billboard standing on a desk, green paint, warm lamp light, realistic miniature.
6. Macro shot of a tiny worker in a green hard hat shovelling messy sticky notes into a small green machine, neat folders coming out on a tiny conveyor belt, warm lamp light, realistic miniature.
7. Morning daylight in a small office, a woman in her 30s walks in holding a coffee, her phone on the desk lights up and she smiles, behind the mug a tiny worker in a green hard hat tips his hat and walks away, realistic, shallow depth of field.

Negative prompt: cartoon, readable text, real brand logos, distorted faces, extra limbs, blurry workers.

Production Notes

- Keep the same worker reference image in every shot so the crew looks consistent.
- Add all screen content (website, stars, search list, notifications) and the lettering on the billboard in the editor.
- One action per shot; mini-worker clips work best as short, satisfying moments.
- Add a small "Created with AI" note in the caption.
- Captions on screen throughout for sound-off viewing.
- Cutdown (15 seconds): Shots 1, 2, 3, 7 and 8.

Music and Sound

- A light, playful, tiptoeing track at night that becomes bright and upbeat in the morning.
- Lots of tiny, detailed sound effects (hammers, cranes, clinks, whistles); they make miniature videos so satisfying.
